

© Pavol Kova?

Church in Vojkovce

Vojkovce, Slowakei

ARCHITEKTUR
Albert Rybar?ák

KUNST AM BAU
Vladimír Popovi?

FERTIGSTELLUNG
1993

SAMMLUNG
Architekturarchiv Slowakei

PUBLIKATIONSDATUM
23. April 2008

In the middle of the small village Vojkovce there is a little church of St. Bartholomew constructed at the place of the former chapel according to the project of the young architect from Prešov A. Rybar?ák. Its composition was inspired by the Biblical story about Noah's Ark. The object consists of three parts: the rotunda, the aisle and the tower. Cylindrical entrance space with the circular windows was inspired by the Roman rotundas from the vicinity. Church aisle is sloping. Its interior is decorated by the painting representing dramatic scene of storm and rainbow (V. Popovi?). The back tower functions as a bell-tower. Mature and rich forms, their distinguished expression, as well as proportional integration into the surroundings make the little church one of the best sacral buildings constructed after 1989. Henrieta Morav?íková

© Pavol Kova?

© Pavol Kova?

Church in Vojkovce

DATENBLATT

Architektur: Albert Rybar?ák
Kunst am Bau: Vladimír Popovi?

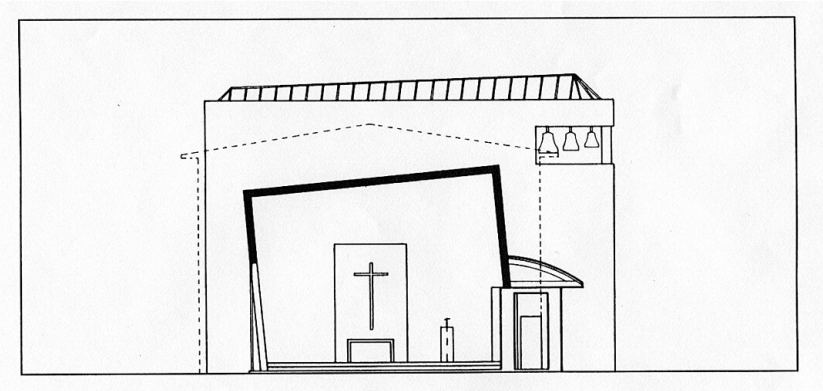
Funktion: Sakralbauten

Planung: 1990
Fertigstellung: 1993

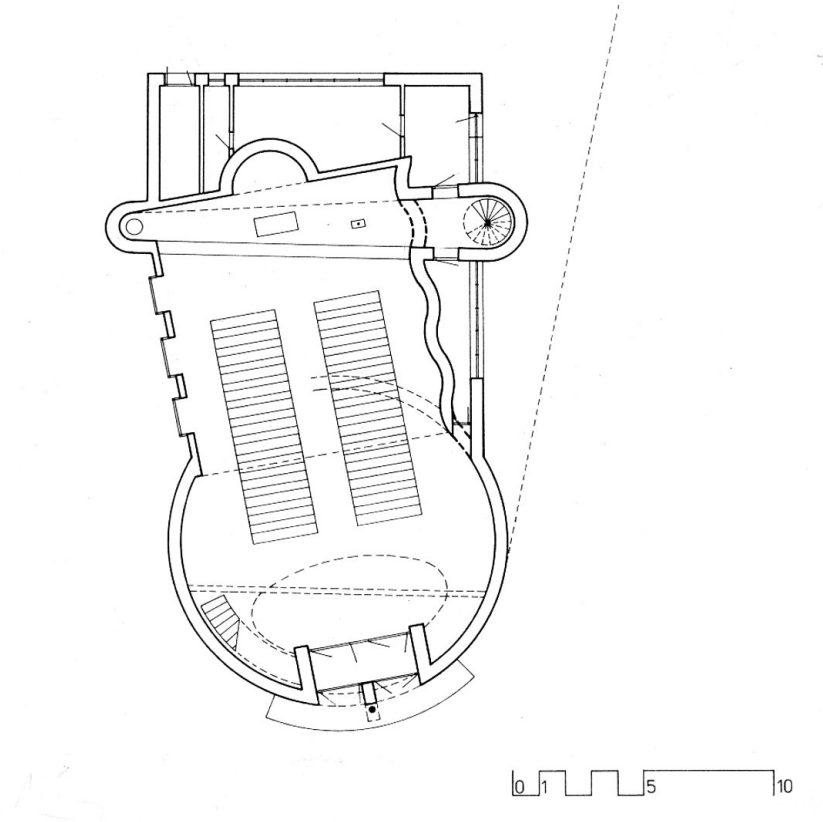
PUBLIKATIONEN

Morav?íková, H. H.: Architekt Albert Rybar?ák. Meritum, Bratislava 1995.
Kostolík vo Vojkovciach. Archit. a Urban. 29, 1995, 3-4, 86 - 89.
Morav?íková, H. H.: Kostolík vo Vojkovciach a jeho príbeh. SNG, Bratislava 1996.

Church in Vojkovce



Section



Plan